BY COYLE SHEA.

Central High and Normal are holding the spotlight Saturday afternoon in their annual game at Russwood park-the first skirmish of the season in the home of the Chicks. It started at 3 o'clock. By every twist of the clastic dope, High should win by a small margin, but the state asylum for the insane is crowded this year with popeyed fanatics who have been badly crossed up. Therefore the unwillingness to offer any advance tip on the ultimate outcome.

This, however, is certain: Both mathe practical and theoretical principles of the game as expounded by the rival coaches—Campbell of Normal and Gronauer of High Was 1.4 chines have absorbed a full share of nauer of High. C. defended all rights and claims to the boob championship of Memphis Friday afternoon by losing to Nocational Ligh, 13-37. By thus clearing up an awkward situation, C. B. The Collegians opened with a fine rush and ran up two touchdowns in the first quarter, but as quickly as they started fire, just as swiftly did they fade out. Through the remaining three-fourths of the game C. B. C. was an utter joke—with a line as formidable as a lemon custard pie and a system of attack that persisted in springing forward passes within her own 20-yard line. It was not only an inherently dangerous style, but it proved disastrous all the way—but not quite poisonous enough for C. B. C. to appreciate.

FUNNY GAME.

At that it was a funny game, mostly because of the sudden turn of advantage. Vocational looked to be in for a tough afternoon, but turned on a different switch and produced another story. Forguson and Zem proved to be the balance of power in favor of the victors. The rangy right halfback couldn't be stopped, and time after time pecied off long end runs for good gains. On defense he was equally brilliant.

Undefeated Mississippi Aggies Go Up Against Auburn Tigers in Birmingham-Georgia Tech Takes on Georgetown

A defeat for the Mississippi Aggies by either the Auburn Tigers or Alabama, which are yet to be met by the farmer boys before the 1919 curtain is rung down, would soramble the Dixe football contests scheduled for Saturday on Southern gridirons. They are the duelt that is to be fought at Charlottesville, Va., between the deevens from Vanderbilt and the University of Virginia, the initial sonsites as to what team is the real champion of Sunland.

The Aggies still have a clean slate, and have met all comers with a stiff wallop. But both the Auburn Tigers and Alabama are hard nuts to crack, and the acid test is yet to come for the Mississippians. If the Aggies can successfully turn back both Auburn and Alabama they will be real champions of Dixie and fully entitled to all honors that may accrue.

The Georgetown eleven, hailed in the East as a Southern team and heraided locally as a Northern aggregation, went into Atlanta with a strong team and one with a reputation for hard fighting and power in attack. Tech's 3 to 6 defeat by Washington and Lee a week ago has, if anything, increased Atlanta interest, and the Yellow Jackets are going into the game with the slogan of "Make Georgetown Remember the W. & L. Game."

The Mississippi Aggies, who have piled up impressive scores throughout the season, have not, in the opinion of many critics, met teams of the class of Vanderbilt, Auburn, Alabama, Georgia Tech and Washington and Lee as yet, and when they take on Auburn today the eleven will have a chance to prove its mettle.

After having lorded it over their less fortunate fellow institutions for many years, the Golden Tornado was finally reduced to the faintest of zephyrs by Washington and Lees.

The 1819 season was not a complete failure for Vandy. The Gold and Black, while not being in line for the championship themselves, turned and gave the Alabama warriors a kick down the ladder just as they were reaching for another upper rung which led to the championship.

The Commodores failed to develop the punch that Coach Dan McGugin tried to inject into them, and the year has been a poor one as far as victories are concerned, so poor in fact that only the Aggles for nine uninterrupted sea-sons, face the strongest team turned out by Coach Chadwick in several years. one nightshirt parade has been indulged in by the rah-rah boys of old Vandy.

Hadley Williams, alias "Bulldog," "Fido," etc., will be one of the 1920 array of umpires in the Southern league. Bull was given an assignment last season and gave a good account of himself, his work being fully as good as any of the others, which, while hardly a compilment, means that it was satisfactory Harry Johnson, the human jumping-jack, and Bill Brennan, the daddy of tigem all, are the only other two that have been definitely decided upon by President John D. Martin.

Georgia Tech. Vandy, Auburn and Alabama have all been dropped, and only the Aggles remain with their heads above the crest. It remains to be seen whether or not they can retain their present fast pace until the end on Thanksgiving day.

The one big feature of the 1919 grid-iron campaign is that the Georgia Tech Yeilow Jackets have had their stingers removed.

Since Johnny Nove won from Lew Tendler on a foul in Denver recently he has claimed the lightweight championship. Nove banes his claim to the title on the fact that Benny Leonard no longer can make the lightweight limit of 133 pounds and Lew Tendler was considered the best man of the class. Nove is now willing to meet the Philadelphia battler in a return engagement and is also ready to tackle Leonard any time Benny says the word. Nove is willing to meet Leonard any of the clubs in New Jorsey. However, it is probable that the bout will not be arranged, as Nove makes one provision, and that is that the title holder must make the lightweight limit. COUNT ON ME, SAYS HUB.

Had a card from Hub Perdue, the Gallatin Squash, a day or two ago, and the veteran pitcher of the Pels said that he'd be back with bells on at the beginning of the 1920 season.

"I'm only a colt," says Hub, "and I'm going to report early, so us youngsters can get in shape. Count on me being on deck next season, for I'm a good pitcher, and Johnny Dobbs wants me back. I don't care whether they rule the shinger, the spitter, or linit.

According to word from Denver, where the Tendler-Noye battle was staged, the Quaker City lightweight was warned twice by the referee for hitting low before he was finally disqualified in the third round. After the referee awarded the bout to Noye the battler was examined, and the physician's report said Noye was suffering from bruises in the right groin. te Unlucky

BY BOB PIGUE.

Pai Moore, the Memphis bantam and leading contender for Pete Herman's crown, and Jabes White, of Albany, N. Y., will meet in the nain bout. Both White and Moore are expected in Memphis some time Saturday and will put on the finishing touches on their training Sunday afternoon at the S. A. C., to which all fans have been invited. White lost the decision to Bernie Hahn, of Philadelphia, in 15 rounds in New Orleans Friday night and for this reason Moore will enter the ring the favorite Monday night, Moore having won over Hahn. Moore and White will make 120 pounds ringside.

PLENTY OF ACTION.

PLENTY OF ACTION.

The bout between Moore and White should be the fastest that has ever been staged in Memphis, for White has already shown that he is capable of giving Pal pienty of trouble and when this pair of bantams meet Monday night, White is counting on trimming Moore.

A decision will be given at the end of the eight rounds by Billy Haack, who will serve as third man in the ring. Haack is no longer Moore's manager and is thereby eligible to judge the fight. Moore is in fine condition for the battle, and will be ready to travel fast when he goes up against the hard-hitting Albanian Monday night. White, who has two knockdowns to his credit over Moore, is staking his all on a right cross which has already dropped Moore twice and which he is counting on doing the same thing only on a larger scale Monday. White has stated that he is going to try hard to knock Pal to the floor and keep him there. It's a man's lob, as White will discover.

Moore says he is not losing any sleep over the outcome of the bout and that if White wins he'll have his hands full.

FARMER VS. M'KINNEY.

Kid Farmer, local favorite a long time ago, is grooming himself for his comeback before the homefolk Farmer has not appeared here in several years and since his return to Memphis has been clamoring for a bout at the S. A. C., so Promotar Billy Hanck ribbed up an eight-round session between the Kid and Dummy McKinney, a local welterweight.

McKinney will outweigh Parmer when they enter the ring, as Parmer only weighs about 138 pounds, while McKin-ney is quite a few pounds over that figure. However, Farmer's experience and ring eleverness are expected to off-set any excess poundage that McKinney may carry.

ROUX VS. BLACK.

Kid Roux, Memphis negro lightweight and one of the toughest of the sombre-hused glovemen, is meeting a strong adversary in Young Kid Black, of Camp Pike. Roux is well known around Memphis, where he has met all the topnotch negro lightics, and has always given a good account of himself. He knows how to fight, has the aggressiveness and will make Black hustle Monday night to win.

Hahn Too Heavy For Jabez White; Ringsiders Hoot

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15.—Bernie Hahn, of Philadelphia, was given the referee's decision over Jabes White, of Albany, N. Y., here last night. Fans at the ringside disarreed with the referee and booed the verdict, claiming that White was the victor. White was the aggressor throughout the fight and in the tenth round he sent Hahn to the floor with a solid smash to the jaw. Hahn was warned several times by the referee fer his wrestling tactics and his butting and intentional roughing. White was a bantam, while Hahn entered the ring a featherweight.

White made an offer to meet Pete Herman, bantam champion, on Dec. 10, in New Orleans, and his terms have been accepted, so it looks now like the Albany boy will be the first to meet Pete over the long route.
